

PLEASE REVIEW THE TEST ORIENTATION FIRST (as many questions are answered only in the orientation slides and notes). The questions listed here are the additional questions that were asked by applicants in attendance at one of the sessions presented by Classified Testing.

- 27Q. If there is a knowledge domain listed on the study aide that does not have any sources listed, what should I expect to be on the exam from that knowledge domain?
- A. If there is no source listed for the knowledge domain, there will not be any questions about that particular domain unless it is covered in one of the other books or the guidelines listed. In that case, we would have told you specifically what chapters concerning that knowledge to expect a test question from. The knowledge domain was considered by the subject matter experts, but there was no consensus on a source for it.
- 28Q. I received a chapter from the guidelines in my copy from the Quartermaster that is not mentioned on the study aide. Would this chapter be testable?
- A. The chapter is not testable unless it is specifically listed on the study aide. For instance, the District Chief Guidelines packet you received from the Quartermaster contains Guidelines Vol II, Chapter 19 – Tactical Evaluation and Assessment Plan. There will not be any questions written from that chapter even though it was copied for the examinees in the packet.
